

Tomorrow: We're on NPR with Scott Simon!

Iona's Wellness & Arts Center had some special guests in early May – National Public Radio's Scott Simon visited the Center with his crew to experience firsthand the smiles, care, joy, and triumphs we see every day.

We were so excited to host NPR and share our vibrant program. And now, we're even more excited to share this segment with you! Tomorrow (Saturday, May 23), NPR's Saturday Weekend Edition with Scott Simon will air his piece about the Wellness & Arts Center sometime between 8:00 – 10:00 AM on WAMU 88.5.

To listen to the segment, tune in tomorrow morning at 8:00 AM or listen live by following this link: http://wamu.org/programs/weekend_edition_saturday (Click on the Listen Live button at the top of the page).

Or, if you miss it in real time, you can also visit the same page later in the day and hear the story: http://wamu.org/programs/weekend_edition_saturday

It was such a pleasure sharing what we do. We can't wait to hear the full segment! Please share this email with your friends and colleagues.

Enjoy,

Sally S. White
Executive Director

How to Listen:

Tune in to WAMU 88.5 from 8:00 - 10:00 AM.

Listen live here (Click on the Listen Live button at the top).

Or, if you miss it in real time, you can also visit the same page later in the day and hear the story.